First Kentucky Caught in Wreck Before Reaching Fort Harrison at Indianapolis.

Indianoplis, Ind., Sept. 12. - A juries occurred a half-mile east of the Brightwood yard limits shortly after 7 o'clock this morn-Indianaoplis at 7:45, struck a Benjamin Harrison. The fireman on the soldiers' special was killed. The engineer jumped and escaped. The fireman was E. C. Ike, of Anderson. Maj. listed men were injured. The soldiers were lucky in having at the head of their train behind the engine two cars filled with tents and equipment.

These cars took the force of the collision. A freight train crossed from north to south on the switch ten minutes before the accident and neglected to close the switch. This caused the wreck.

Samuel Densmore, engineer of No. 9, was killed. He lived in this city.

The two seriously injured are Charles Adams, fireman on No. 9, and George W. Kuntz, of Union City.

While Crittenden county is noted for fine mules the display Monday was far in advance of that of any previous occasion. And even with all the fancy prices paid and offered, many refused them and lead their stock home.

But the best bargain of the whole day was the Graves farm borhood, and reasonably good land, bought by Gus Graves for $450.00 for the 130 acres. Why go west when you can buy land this cheap in Crittenden. The land was sold by Judge J. G. Rochester as County Commissioner.

Won Over His Five Worthy Opponents, Receiving 9 to 6 on the "Home Stretch."

Pursuant to a previous call the Republican County Committee met in the Court room Monday afternoon and presided over by chairman A. A. Haynes, proceeded to ballot for the most available candidate for county Judge.

There were five candidates: J. E. Sullingers, G. T. Belt, T. F. Newcom, R. E. Wilson, and J. M. Walker, all of which received the same number of votes on the first ballot from the 15 committeemen.

But after repeated balloting the race narrowed down to Sullinger and Belt, when on the last ballot Sullinger received 9 votes to Belt 6, when with harmony and the best of feeling prevailing he was unaminously declared the nominee.

The good feeling prevailing was the best compliment that could have been paid Mr. Sullinger as it proved that the committeemen and the other candidates recogonized in him the combined qualities of leader and gentleman.

ANNUAL MEETING OE ASSOCIATION

Met at Henderson September 3d. Meeting Harmonious and Profitable Throughout.

The annual meeting of the members of the Stemming District Tobacco Association was, as provided for in the constiution and by-laws, held in the city of Henderson on yesterday, the first Saturday, the third day of September, 1910. His Honor, Mayor W. I. Thompson, very considerately tendered the Association the use of the council chamber and the meeting was held therein, beginning at 10 o'clock a. m.

Delegates were present from all five counties, Crittenden alone sending as many as 26 delegates, and the city hall was crowded.

Hon. F. F. Brown called the SALEM MILLING meeting to order. And the invocation was earnestly delivered by the Rev. James Vernon, the resident minister of the Christtian church. Following this came the opening speech of the chairman, which was listened to with marked attention. The speech Samuel D. Asher and Gabriel was of such time-merit and imtion in full.

At the conclusion of his speech the chairman was vigorously applauded. He then announced the election of permanent chairman to be in order. Judge Aaron Towery, of Crittenden, turned home Wednsday, having in earnest words of tribute and spent several weeks with friends in touching terms of high appreciation placed Mr. F. Brown in nomination. Motion seconded, with a like tribute, by I. N. Baker, of Webster county. Motion carried unanimously. And then, with like unanimity, J. N. Banks was made secretary

ASSISTANT NEY GENERAL

Writes J. S. Newcom In Answer To Inquirey, as to Selling School Houses to Pay Old Debts

State Captiol, Mr. J. S. Newcom, Weston, Ky.

Dear Sir:-Your letter of recent | 1819. date, addressed to the Attorney General, was duly received and in reply to same beg to advise you as follows:

When the school law of 1910 was passed, it did not say anything about who should pay off the old debts owing by the common school districts, and this 1839. department, in an opinion to the Superintendent of Public Insruction, ruled that these old debts should be paid by the County Board of Education out of the county school tax which the act authorized to be levied and collected. The Court of Appeals, however, in the recent case of Logan County Fiscal Court vs. County Board of Education of Logan county, held to the contrary, and under the construction as the court has placed it now the old districts will have to pay off this indebtedness, notwithstanding the fact the County Board of Education takes the fee simple title to all the school property. I do not think the schoolhouse could under any circumstances now be sold to pay these old debts. The only way the old debt could be paid would be by levying a tax on the old district, under the provisions of the old law. I do not know just 1, 1883. how this should be done. There are only two ways by which it temper 1, 1887. can be done-one by the appointment of three trustees under the ber 1, 1891. old law, as suggested in your letter, and the old trustees and 1, 1895. making the levy and collection. #### OLD THEORY IS EXPLODED

Women Do Not Want Masterful Husbands Who Will Beat Them Now and Then.

When its comes to a question of disposition, says Robert Haven Schauffler, in his series of marriage articles now running in Success Magazine, 86 per cent, of the girls in the business world, stenographers, clerks, and so on, would like their husbands easygoing rather than masterful, as compared with 75 per cent. in the fac-

Readers of the first article in this series were perhaps surprised to find nobody demanding in her future hushand what seems to many one of the indispensable qualifications for married happiness; that is the capacity for comradeship. Not one factory girl mentioned this quality and only a very few girls of business. One bookkeeper in St. Louis added as an after thought:

"He must treat me as a companion; not as a doll baby." A railroad cashier was the only one to reason from actual experience "Say, I had an experience once that gave me a lesson! I was working in the signal tower and there was a man worked there with me. He was a good looking enough fellah. If I'd 'a' known him anywhere else, I might 'a' took him when he asked me.

"Thank goodness I was up there with him all day long and I had a chance to find out. That's the way to learn a man. If some of those girls that get married could stay all day with a man for awhile, every day in the week, there wouldn't be so many mismates.

"Oh, there wasn't nothin' really wrong with him, only when his line o' talk played out there wasn't anything more to say. We'd sit up there silent as owls. Say, mebbe I wasn't glad when I got a transfer. If we'd been married now, it wouldn't have been so easy to get a transfer."

COL. ROOSEVELT IS ORATOR AT OSAWATOMIE CEREMONY

He Delivers the Chief Address at the Dedication of John Brown Park, Discoursing of the Present Day Struggle for Human Betterment.

Osawatomie, Kan., Aug. 31.-With elaborate ceremony, John Brown park, a tract of 22 acres on the ground where the battle of Osawatomie was fought of years ago yesterday, was dedicated today and presented to the state of Kansas. The culmination of the affair was the dedicatory address, which was delivered by Col. Theodore Roosevelt.

Preliminary exercises were held yesterday, and the program was resumed at 10:30 this morning with a concert by the Thirteenth Regiment band, followed by a drill by troops of the Kansas National guard and the regular army. Meanwhile Col. Roosevelt's train had arrived and all the thousands of people assembled bere went to the station to greet him.

After dinner all gathered in the new park, where there was a parade by the soldiery, the Grand Army Woman's Relief corps and civic societies and another band concert. Then, after a vocal solo by Miss Elisabeth Uhls and an invocation, the president of the board of trustees, Cora M. Deputy, formally presented the park to the state on behalf of the Woman's Relief corps of Kansas, which bought the ground. Governor Stubbs responded gracefully for the state, and then the chairman, J. B. Remington, introduced the distinguished orator of the day, former President Roosevelt.

Oration by Colonel Roosevelt.

Col. Roosevelt stood silent and smiling until the storm of applause had died down, and then spoke as follows:

There have been two great crises in our country's history; first when it was formed, and then again when it was perpetuated. The formative period included not merely the Revolutionary war, but the creation and adoption of the Constiunder it. Then came sixty years during which we spread across the continent-years of vital growth, but of growth without rather than growth within. Then came the time of stress and strain which culminated in the Civil war, the period of terrible struggle upon the issue of which depended the justification of all that we had done earlier, and which marked the second great period of growth and development within. The name of John Brown will be forever associated with this second period of the Nation's distory; and Kansas was the theater upon which the first act of the second of great National life dramas was play-It was the result of the struggle in Kansas which determined that our counne devoted to both union and freedom, that the great experiment of democratic government on a National scale should succeed and not fail. It was a heroic struggle; and, as is inevitable with all such struggles, it had also a dark and terrible side. Very much was done of od, and much also of evil; and, as was inevitable in such a period of revolution, often the same man did both good and evil. For our great good fortune as a Nation, we, the people of the United States as a whole, can now afford to for-get the evil, or at least to remember it bitterness, and to fix our eyes with pride on the good that was accom-plished. Even in ordinary times there are very few of us who do not see the problems of life as through a glass, darkly; and when the glass is clouded by the murk of furious popular passion, the vision of the best and the bravest is Looking back, we are all of us able to do justice to the valor and disinterestedness and the love of the right as to each it was given to see the right, shown both by the men of the north and the men of the south in that contest which was finally decided by the attitude of the west. We can admire the heroic valor, the sincerity, the self-devotion shown alike by the men who wore the and the men who wore the gray; and our sadness that such men should have had to fight one another is tempered by the glad knowledge that ever hereafter their descendants shall be found fighting side by side, struggling in pea as well as in war for the uplift of their country, all alike resolute to raise to the highest pitch of honor and usefulness the Nation to which they all belong. As for the veterans of the Grand Army of the Republic, they deserve honor other citizens of the Republic; for them the Republic owes its all, for to them it owes its very existence

Application of the Lesson.

I do not speak of this struggle of the past merely from the historic standpoint. interest is primarily in the application today of the lessons taught by the contest of half a century ago. It is of little use for us to pay lip loyalty to the mighty men of the past unless we sincarely endeavor to apply to the problems of the present precisely the qualities which in other crises enabled the men of that day to meet those crises. It is half melancholy and half amusing to see the way in which well-meaning people gather to do honor to the men who, in company with John Brown, and under the lead of Abraham Lincoln, faced and solved the great problems of the nineteenth cenwhile at the same time these same people nervously shrink from or frantically denounce those who are tryto meet the problems of the twentieth the spirit which was accountable for he successful solution of the problems of coln's time. Of that generation of men, to whom we the most is, of course, Lincoln. Part of our debt to him is because he forecast our present struggle and saw the way out. He said: owe so much, the man to whom we owe

'I hold that while man exists it is duty to improve not only his own but to assist in ameliorating And again, "Labor is prior to and independent of capital; capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed but for labor. Labor is the or of capital and deserves much the consideration. Capital has its her consideration. Capital has its her consideration. Capital has its his which are as worthy of protection any other rights. . Nor should this d to a war upon the owners of property is the fruit of labor; property is destrable; is a positive good in a world. Let not him who is houseless iff down the house of another, but let m work diligently and build one for marelf, thus by strample showing that his own shall be safe from violence when built." It seems to me that in these built." It seems to me that in these words Lincoln took substantially the attitude that we ought to take; he showed the proper sense of proportion in his rela-tive estimates of capital and labor, of human rights and property rights. Above all, in this speech, as in many others, he taught a lesson in wise kindliness and charity; an indispensable lesson to us of today. But this wise kindliness and charity never weakened his arm or numbed his heart. We cannot afford weakly to blind ourselves to the actual conflict which faces us today. The issue is joined, and we must fight or fail.

Equality of Opportunity.

In every wise struggle for human betterment one of the main objects, and often the only object, has been to achieve n larger measure equality of opportunity. In the struggle for this great end, nations rise from barbarism to civilization, and through it peoples press forward from one stage of enlightenment to the next. One of the chief factors in progress is the destruction of special privilege. The oce of any struggle for healthy liberty has always been and must always to take from some one man or class of men the right to enjoy power, or wealth, or position, or immunity, which has not been earned by service to his or their fellows.

At many stages in the advance of hu-manity this conflict between the meaning he possess more than they have earned the them who have earned more than the possess is the central condition of progress. In our day it appears as the struggle of free men to gain and hold right of self-government as against the special interests, who twist the methods of free government into machinery for defeating the popular will. At every stage and under all circumstances the essence of the struggle is to equalize op-portunity, destroy privilege, and give to the life and citizenship of every individ-ual the highest possible value both to himself and to the commonwealth. Practical equality of opportunity for all citizens, when we achieve it, will have two great results. First, every man will have a fair chance to make of himself all that in him lies, to reach the highest point to which his capacities, unassisted by special privilege of his own and unhampered by the special privileges of others, can carry him, and to get for himself and his family substantially what he has earned. Second, equality of opportunity means that the commonwealth will get from every citizen the highest service of which he is capable. No man who cardes the burden of the special privileges of another can give to the commonwealth that service to which it is fairly en-

I stand for the square deal. But when I say that I am for the square deal I mean not merely that I stand for fair play under the present rules of the game, but that I stand for having those rules changed so as to work for a more sub-stantial equality of opportunity, and of reward for equally good service.

This means that our tional and State, must be freed from the interests. Exactly as the special interests of cotton and slavery threatened our political integrity before the Civil war, so now the great special business interests too often control and corrupt the men and methods of government for their own We must drive the special interests out of politics. That is one of our tasks today. Every special interest is justice-full, fair, and complete-but not one is entitled to a vote in congress, a voice on the bench, or to representation in any public office. The Con stitution guarantees protection to property, and we must make that promise good. But it does not give the right of suffrage

Property Should Be the Servant.

The true friend of property, the true nservative, is he who insists that property shall be the servant and not the master of the commonwealth; who insists that the creature of man's making shall be the servant and not the master of the man who made it. The citizen of the United States must effectively control the mighty commercial forces which they have themselves called into being.

There can be no effective control of corporations while their political activity remains. To put an end to it will be neither a short nor an easy task, but it

We must have complete and effective publicity of corporate affairs, so that the people may know beyond peradventure whether the corporations obey the law and whether their management entitles them to the confidence of the public. It is necessary that laws should be passed to prohibit the use of corporate funds directly or indirectly for political purposes; it is still more necessary that such laws should be thoroughly enforced. Corporate expenditures for political purposes, and especially such expenditures by public service corporations, have supplied one of the principal sources of corruption in our political affairs.

It has become entirely clear .that we must have government supervision of the capitalization not only of public service corporations, including particularly railways, but, of all corporations doing an inter-state business. I do not wish to see the Nation forced into ownership of railways if it can possibly be avoided, and the only alternative is thoroughgoing and effective regulation, which shall based on a full knowledge of all the facts, including a physical valuation of the property. This physical valuation is not needed, or at least is very rarely needed, for fixing rates; but it is needed as the basis of honest capitalization.

We have come to recognize that franchises should never be granted except for a limited time, and never without for a limited time, and never without proper provision for compensation to the public. It is my personal belief that the same kind and degree of control and supervision which should be exercised over public service corporations should be extended also to combinations which control necessaries of life, such as meat, off, and coal, or which deal in them on an important scale.

I believe that the officers, and especially the directors, of corporations, should be held personally responsible when any corporation breaks the law.

Dealing With Combinations.

Combinations in industry are the result

Inter-State Commerce Commission, should be largely increased. We have a right to expect from the Bureau of Corporations and from the Inter-State Commerce Commission a very high grade of public service. We should be as sure of the proper conduct of inter-state railways and the proper management of inter-state business as we are now sure of the conduct and management of the National banks, and we should have as effective supervision in one case as in the other. The Hepburn act, and the amendment to that act in the shape in which it finally passed congress at the last session, represent a long step in advance and we must go yet further.

There is a widespread belief among

There is a widespread belief among our people that, under the methods of making tariffs which have hitherto obtained, the special interests are too influential. Probably this is true of both the big interests and the little interests. the big interests and the little interests. These methods have put a premium on selfishness, and naturally the selfish big interests have gotten more than the selfish small interests. The duty of congress is to provide a method by which the interest of the whole people shall be all that receives consideration. To this end there must be an expert tariff commission, wholly removed from the possibility of political pressure or of improper business influence. Such a commission can find out the real difference between cost of production, which is mainly the difference production, which is mainly the difference between cost of production, which is mainly the differ-ence of labor cost here and abroad. As tast as its recommendations are made, I believe in revising one schedule at a time. A general revision of the tariff almost inevitably leads to log-rolling, and the sub-ordination of the general public interest to local and special interests.

The absence of effective state, and especially National, restraint upon unfair money-getting has tended to create a small class of enormously wealthy and economically powerful men, whose chief object is to hold and increase their power. The prime need is to change the conditions which enable these men to accumulate power which it is not for the general welfare that they should hold or exercise. We grudge no man a fortune which represents his own power and sagacity, when fare of his fellows. But the fortune must be honorably obtained and well use is not even enough that it should have been gained without doing damage to the community. We should permit it to be sained only so long as the gaining reposents benefit to the community. This, I know, implies a policy of a far more active governmental interference with so-cial and economic conditions in this country than we have yet had, but I think we have got to face the fact that such an increase in governmental control is now

Income and Inheritance Taxes. No man should receive a dollar unless that dollar has been fairly earned. Every dollar received should represent a dollar's worth of service rendered. The really big fortune, the swollen fortune, by the big fortune, the swollen fortune, by the mere fact of its size, acquires qualities which differentiate it in kind as well as in degree from what is possessed by men of relatively small means. Therefore I believe in a graduated income tax on big fortunes, and in another tax which is far more easily collected and far more effective—a graduated inheritance tax on big fortunes, properly safeguarded against evasion, and increasing rapidly in grount with the size of the estate. In amount with the size of the estate.

The people of the United States suffer from periodical financial panics to a degree substantially unknown among the other nations which approach us in financial strength. There is no reason we should suffer what they escape. It is of profound importance that our financial system should be promptly investigated, and so thoroughly and effectively revised as to make it certain that hereafter coverage will be longer fall at critiour currency will no longer fafl at criti-cal times to meet our needs. It is hardly necessary for me to repeat that I believe in an efficient army and abroad that respect which is the surest guarantee of peace. Justice and fair deal-ing among nations rest on principles identical with those which control justice and fair dealing among the individuals of which nations are composed; with the vital exception that each nation must do ts own partin international police work National friendships, like those between men, must be founded on respect as well as on liking, on forbearance as well as upon trust. In all this it is peculiarly the duty of the United States to set a good example. Of conservation I shall speak more at length elsewhere. Conservation means development as much as it does protection. I recognize the right and the duty of this generation to develop and use the natural resources of our land, but I do not recognize the right to waste them, or to rob, by wasteful use, the generations that come after us. The natural resources must be used for the benefit of all our people and not monopolized for the bene fit of the few. That is one of the funda mental reasons why the special interests must be driven out of politics. Of all the questions which can come before this Vation, short of the actual preservation of its existence in a great war, there is none which compares in importance with great central task of leaving this land even a better land for our de dants then it is for us, and training them into a better race to inhabit the land and pass it on. Conservation is a great moral issue, for it involves the patriotic duty of insuring the safety and continuance of the Nation. Let me add that the health and vitality of our people are at least as well worth conserving as their forests, waters, lands, and minerals, and that in this great work the National gov

I have spoken elsewhere also of the great task which lies before the farmers of the country to get for themselves and for their wives and children not only the benefits of better farming, but also those of better business methods and better conditions of life on the farm. The burden of this great task will fall, as it should, mainly upon the great organisations of the farmers themselves. I am glad it will, for I believe they are well able to handle it. In particular, there are strong reasons why the departments of agriculture of the various states, the United States department of agriculture, and the agricultural colleges and experi-ment reasons should extend their work to cover all phases of life on the farm, instead of limiting themselves, as they have far too often limited themselves in the past, solely to the question of the production of crops.

Human Welfare Comes First.

Nothing is more true than that excess of every kind is followed by reaction; a fact which should be pondered by reform-er and reactionary alike. We are face to face with new conceptions of the rela-tions of property to human welfare, chiesly because certain advocates of the rights ly because certain advocates of the rights of property as against the rights of men have been pushing their claims too far. The man who wrongly helds that every human right is secondary to his profit must now give way to the advocate of human welfare, who rightly maintains that every man holds his property subject to the general right of the community to regulate its use to whatever degree ity to regulate its use to whatever degree the public welfare may require it. Bu the public welfare may require it. But I think we may go still further. The right to regulate the use of wealth in the public interest is universally admitted. Let un admit also the right to regulate the terms and conditions of labor, which is the cliff element of wealth, directly in the interest of the common good. The fundamental thing to do for every man is to give him the chance to reach a place in which he will make the greatest possi-Combinations in industry are the result of an imperative economic law which cannot be repealed by political legislation. The effort at prehibiting all combination has substantially failed. The way out lies not in attempting to prevent such combinations, but in completely controling them in the interest of the public velocity of the combinations, but in completely controling them in the interest of the public velocity of the common good. The public velocity of the common good. The fundamental thing to do for every manifest importance. Its power and the public velocity of the common good. The fundamental thing to do for every manifest importance. Its power and the public velocity of the public velocity of the public velocity.

No man can be a good citizen unless be has a wage more than sufficient to cover the bare cost of living, and hours of labor short shough so that after his day's work is done he will have time and energy to bear his share in the management of the community, to help in carrying the general load. We keep countless men from being good citizens by the conditions of life with which we surround them. We need comprehensive workmen's compensation acts, both state and National laws to regulate child labor and the work of women, and especially we need in our common schools not merely education in book-learning but also practical training for daily life and work. We need to enforce better sanitary conditions for our workers, and to extend the use of safety appliances in industry and commerce both within and between the states. Also, friends, in the interest of the workingmen himself we need to set our faces like fiint against mob violence just as against corporate greed; against violence and injustice and lawlessness by wage-workers just as much as against lawless cunning and greed and selfish arrogance of employers.

National efficiency has many factors. It is a necessary result of the principle of conservation widely applied. In the end it will determine our failure or success as a Nation. National efficiency has te do not only with natural resources and with men. It is equally concerned with institutions. The state mus' be made efficient for the work which concerns only the people of the state; and the Nation for that which concerns all the people. There must remain no neutral ground to serve as a refuge for lawbreakers, and especially for lawbreakers of great wealth, who can hire the culpine legal cunning which will teach them how to avoid both jurisdictions. It is a misfortune when the National legislature falls to do its duty in neverthing a National wold both jurisdictions. It is a misfortune when the National legislature fails to do its duty in providing a National remedy, so that the only National activity is the purely negative activity of the judiciary in forbidding the state to ex-continent. I speak to you here in Kansas exactly as I would speak in New York or Georgia, for the most vital problems are those which affect us all alike. The National government belongs to the whole American people, and where the whole American people are interested, that interest can be guarded effectively only by the National government. The betterment which we seek must be accomplished, I believe, mainly through the National government.

The American people are right in demanding that new Nationalism without which we cannot hope to deal with new problems. The new Nationalism puts the National need before sectional or personal advantage. It is impatient of the utter confusion that results from local legislatures attempting to treat National issues as local issues. It is still more impatient of the impotence which springs from the over-division of government powers, the impotence which makes it possible for local selfishness or for legal cunning, hired by wealthy special interests. cunning, hired by wealthy special inter-ests, to bring National activities to a esta, to bring National activities to a deadlock. This new Nationalism regards the executive power as the steward of the public welfare. It demands of the judiciary that it shall be interested primarily in human welfare rather than in property, just as it demands that the representative body shall represent all the people, rather than any one class or section of the people.

I believe in shaping the ends of government to protect property as well as human welfare. Normally, and in the long run, the ends are the same, but whenever the alternative must be faced I am for men and not for property. I am far from underestimating the importance of dividends, but I rank dividends halow human character, I know well below human character. I know well that the reformers must not bring upon themselves will go down in the ruin. But we must be ready to face temporary disaster, whether or not brought on by those who will war against us to the knife. Those who oppose all reform will do well to remember that ruin in its worst form is inevitable if our National life brings us nothing better than swel-len fortunes for the few and the triumph for both politics and business of a sordid:

and selfish materialism. Honesty in Public Servants.

If our political institutions were perfect, they would absolutely prevent the political demination of money in any part of affairs. We need to make our political representatives more quickly and sensitively responsive to the people whose servants they are. More direct action by the people in their own affairs under per safeguards is vitally necessary. direct primary is a step in this direction if it is associated with a corrupt practises act effective to prevent the ad-vantage of the man willing recklessly and unscrupulously to spend money over his more honest competitor. It is particularby important that all moneys received or expended for campaign purposes should be publicly accounted for not only after election but before election as well. Po-litical action must be made simpler, easler, and freer from confusion for every citizen. I believe that the prompt removal of unfaithful or incompetent public servants should be made easy and sure in whatever way experience shall show to be most expedient in any given

One of the fundamental necessities in a representative government such as ours is to make certain that the men to whom the people delegate their power shall serve the people by whom they are elected, and not the special interests. The object of government is the welfare of the people. The material progress and prosperity of a nation are desirable chiefly so far as they lead to the moral and material welfare of all good citizens. Just in proportion as the average man and woman are honest, capable of sound judgment and high ideals, active in puble affairs but first of all sound in their e life, and the father and mother of healthy children—just so far and no far-ther we may count our civilization a suc-cess. We must have—I believe we have already a genuine and permanent moral awakening, without which no wisdom of legislation or administration really means anything; and, on the other hand, we must try to secure the social and eco-momic legislation without which any improvement due to purely moral agitation is necessarily evanescent. What we need is good citizens. Good citizenship means progress; and therefore all good citizens should stand for progress, and must be

If you had positive proof that a certain remedy for female ills had made many remarkable cures, would you not feel like trying it?

If during the last thirty years we have not succeeded in convincing every fair-minded woman that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has cured thousands and thousands of women of the ills peculiar to their sex, then we long for an opportunity to do so by direct correspondence. Meanwhile read the following letters which we guarantee to be genuine and truthful.

Hudson, Ohio.—"I suffered for a long time from a weakness, inflammation, dreadful pains each month and suppression. I had been doctoring and receiving only temporary relief, when a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and wrote to you for advice. I have faithfully followed your directions and now, after taking only five bottles of the Vegetable Compound, I have every reason to believe I am a well woman. I give you full permission to use my testimonial."—Mrs. Lena Carmocino, Hudson, Ohio. R. F. D. No. 7.

St. Regis Falls, N. Y.—"Two years ago I was so bad that I had to take to my bed every month, and it would last from two to three weeks. wrote to you for advice and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in dry form. I am happy to say that I am cured, thanks to your medicine and good advice. You may use my letter for the good of others."—Mrs. J. H. Breyere, St. Regis Falls, N. Y.

There is absolutely no doubt about the ability of this grand old remedy, made from the roots and herbs of our fields, to cure female diseases. We possess volume of proof of this fact, enough to convince the most skepti

For 30 years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been the standard remedy for female ills. No sick woman does justice to herself who will not try this famous medicine. Made exclusively from roots and herbs, and has thousands of cures to its credit.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health free of charge. Address Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

ELK FLOUR

SOLD ON PROOF---NOT CLAIMS

If you do not find Elk Flour all that we say it is, you will have your money back-you will have lost nothing.

If you do find Elk Flour to be more economical-much superior in quality to any other flour-then you can't know it any too soon.

We might argue in advertising-just as other advertisers do-that our product is "best."

But Elk Flour really has the superior quality-which enables us to permit Elk Flour itself to convince you of its own superior quality, right in your home.

We make Elk Flour from the best grade of Crittenden county wheat and connected with the fact that we have the latest improved machinery for cleaning and our mills absolutely perfect from top to bottom it is no wonder that Elk Flour is so popular in every home.

We buy wheat only for our own consumption, hence buy the best. Mills that speculate in wheat frequently get mixed wheat in their best brands. This is averted with us. Buy the best, THE ELK.
